Announcement Made Of Aviation Course Plans

Civil Aeronautics Group to Direct Activities of College Units

FIFTY APPLICANTS REPORT ON FRIDAY

After an announcement made by Pres. Paul D. Moody at chapel last week concerning a new aviation course, sponsored by the government, more than fifty men reported for application blanks on Friday according to Prof. John G. Bowker.

Under the direciton of the Civil Aeronautics authority, this course will include ground-school training by members of the college faculty and actual flight work under the direction of Pilot Joseph Rock of Bristol. Plans as yet are not complete, but physical examinations are underway and the course is intended to start in the near future.

Cost of this new course will be borne mainly by the government, which is expending approximately $335 per man for instruction. The student will thus receive his private license with an expense to him of only about $40.

Quota for the state of Vermont has been placed at sixty men. Should this be split equally three ways among the three colleges offering this new course, Middlebury, Norwich and the University of Vermont will each be allowed twenty men. But should the quota be proportional, Middlebury, smallest institution of the three, may be allowed only twelve or fifteen men.

Much interest on the part of those applying for blanks was registered, according to Prof. Bowker. This was evident by the fact that about fifty men from the three upper classes were present at last Friday's meeting, while the maximum quota for Middlebury cannot exceed twenty men in any case.

Middlebury is still awaiting further notice from the government before starting on the new course. Until then, the college is not able to begin preliminary instruction. It is expected that orders for procedure will be received from the Civil Aeronautics authority in the near future.

In the meantime the required physical examinations are being held in Rutland under the direction of Dr. Maxwell H. Thompson of that city.

Student Elections To Be Held Soon

New Constitution Provides For Sweeping Changes In Nominating Methods

According to Undergraduate President George F. Lewin '40, the election of the Men's Student Assembly provided for in Article 1, Section 1 of the new constitution for student government will be held within two weeks. Article 1, Section 4 states that the election must be held between October 10 and October 20.

The biggest problem facing Lewin, upon whom the burden of working out the new election system falls, is that of splitting up the men's college into voting constituencies of ten men each. When this is accomplished a list will be posted and a date set for the actual election which will take place in Mead chapel. Each constituency of ten men will elect one representative to the assembly.

In many cases groups of ten will have to be "built up" with overflow men from such places as fraternity houses with between ten and twenty residents being combined to make full groups. Men living off campus will be combined in a similar manner.

Also under the jurisdiction of the undergraduate president is the election of the officers of the freshman class. At present Lewin plans to hold this election in the hemicycle in Warner Science hall on Tuesday, October 3.

JOHN H. FINLEY '40 TO BE NEW EDITOR OF THE SAXONIAN

At a meeting of the editorial board of the Saxonian held Monday afternoon John H. Finley '40 was elected editor-in-chief. He will replace Jeannette C. Martin who did not return to Middlebury this year.

Prof. Reginald C. Cook, faculty adviser of the magazine, aided the board in its reorganization which was necessary because of the disorganization of the plans made last spring for the publication of the 1939-1940 issues of the Saxonian.

Finley has been a contributing editor of the publication for three years and last year was appointed associate editor. He has contributed both poetry and prose to the literary magazine.

Miss Martin, the retiring editor, besides her many contributions to Saxonian, has had two of her works included in the Bread Loaf Anthology.

The latter part of October has been set as the date for the publication of the first issue.

First Hike Planned By Mountain Club

Trip to Lake Pleiad, Silent Cliff and Bailey Falls to Be Free for Members

Middlebury's first Mountain club hike this season is scheduled for this Sunday, with a trip planned to take in Lake Pleiad, Silent cliff, and Bailey falls. Members will not be charged for this hike. Trucks will leave Battell cottage at 8:45 and 10:00 Sunday morning.

Clothing recommended for the trip would include slacks or ski pants, a warm jacket, woolen socks, and low heeled comfortable shoes.

Freshmen this year are being offered a four year ticket for only three dollars, as well as a single year's ticket for one dollar. Either ticket entitles them to all the privileges of membership, including use of the equipment and the right to wear club insignia.

Raymond R. Unsworth '41 has been placed in charge of a committee to rebuild the new toboggan slide on Chipman hill. Sophomore and freshmen tryouts for Skyline will be enlisted to assist in this work. At present, the slide, recently built, is neither wide nor deep enough.

The board chosen to handle the Intercollegiate Outing Club association executive secretaryship awarded to Middlebury last April has been reconstructed, and two positions on the board have been reassigned. Robert C. Anderson '40, president of Mountain club, will handle the nominal position of Executive secretary, and will be responsible for publicity. Elbert C. Cole '40 has been made editor of the I. O. C. A. Bulletin. There has been no change made in other officers on the board. Franklin W. Meyers '40 has taken the position of Regional secretary for Region I of the clubs covered by I. O. C. A., and will be responsible for reports from organizations in western New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire.

A meeting of the Governing board was called for 4:30 today in the Seminar room of the library, and a Skyline meeting is scheduled for tomorrow at 4:30 in Warner hemicycle.

Professor Cook to Give First Abernethy Reading

Prof. Reginald C. Cook will read in the Abernethy room of Starr library at 3:45 Friday afternoon. This will be the first Abernethy reading of the year.

Short stories by such modern authors as Stephen Benet, Faulkner and Saroyan have been chosen by Prof. Cook to read. Faculty and students are cordially invited to attend by the library.

Newly Formed Town Forum Meets Tonight

This evening at the Grange hall the first panel discussion to be held by the newly formed Community Forum will take place. Scheduled as speakers are Prof. Waldo H. Heinrichs, Dana Bennett and Rev. Charles F. Whiston. The pro's and con's of the neutrality of the United States in the present crisis are to be discussed.

At a meeting held Thursday evening, September 21 at the Community House, Wilder Foote was elected as chairman of the committee and Reverend Whiston as secretary-treasurer. The Women's club, the League of Women Voters, the Association of American University Women, the Chamber of Commerce, the Baptist, Episcopal, Congregational and Methodist churches, the Farm Bureau, and the Woman's Forum sent representatives. A definite attempt is being made to have all town and college organizations support the Forum.

The purpose of the Forum as set forth in the preliminary letter to the organization asking for their support follows:

"The need for a Community Forum which is strictly non-partisan is very great. This need can be met only by a community-wide sponsorship.

"It is a common failing of many forum projects that sooner or later the program becomes the tool of one group or another. Ordinarily this dangerous condition is the outcome of community neglect.

"During the approaching months the position of the United States with regard to the Euorpean war will be defined. The use of forums will play an important part in defining the will of the people in our nation.

"There is going to be a definite need for a place where the chaff and the wheat may be sifted. This means that someone must provide a platform which is free."

It is planned to have a meeting of this forum every last Wednesday evening of the month. There will be no admission charge.

Midd Night Held In Gym On Saturday

Freshman and Upperclass-Women Entertained By Songs, Cheers, Dances

Concluding the round of activity that constitutes Freshman Week, the women of the class of 1943 were entertained at the gymnasium Saturday evening at the annual "Midd Night" by the upperclassmen. The affair, under the leadership of Ruth H. Packard '41, featured the presentation of class skits and movies.

The program was started with a welcome by Audrey H. Wouters '41 and a showing of movies by Robert C. Anderson '40. Reels of "A Year at Middlebury" and of the yearly I. O. C. A. hikes were screened.

The skit by the class of 1942 featured an interlocutor, June A. Perry, a quartet, composed of Adelaide E. Barrett, Lois R. Grandy, and Margaret E. Wood, Mary L. Eimer and a soloist, Elizabeth J. Goldbach. The action burlesqued the possible future of several Middlebury women and was accompanied by a class chorus.

The junior skit was based on the slogans, "To College With A Purpose" and "Dress The Part", and showed the importance of fashion in the college girl's life. As Evelyn S. Robinson read appropriate comments, students filed on the stage, demonstrating the proper apparel for every emergency possible.

The playlet presented by the class of 1940 showed a calendar year at Middlebury and pointed out the high spots of the year such as football games, Carnival, and Junior and Senior Weeks. Jean M. Sweeny acted as mistress of ceremonies.

Midd Night was brought to an informal close with the serving of refreshments and a session of barn dancing.

Monroe Hall, Recitation Building, To Be Erected

SHELDON MUSEUM WILL CLOSE WITH SCIENCE EXHIBIT

Students who wish to visit the Sheldon Museum should go within the next three weeks, for when cold weather begins, the place has to close.

This week and next, another exhibit of interest to scientists may be seen at the Museum. Through the courtesy of Mr. Wissler of the Physics department at the college, a collection of old instruments are being shown there. While these have long been in the laboratory, it is only this summer that the present college authorities have known anything about them. Prof. Bowker, while in England, by means of photographs made by W. Storrs Lee, has been able to get some information from the Science Museum in South Kensington, London, concerning the history of the collection.

Since the museum has no heating plant it has usually had to be closed about October 15.

Talk By President Opens 140th Year

Address Given Thursday Urges Student Body to Practice Self Discipline

Pres. Paul D. Moody opened the 140th college year at Middlebury with an address to the student body on Thursday, September 21.

He opened his talk with "We meet on a day when many peoples and civilizations are fighting not only for their principles but for their very national existences." He added "The world is torn by the firm belief in force."

His theme was that in the midst of this chaos we must preserve our sanity. "We must believe mankind has progressed in relation to his turning his back on the law of the jungle or might makes right," President Moody said.

"It is sheer nonsense", he said in regard to the cry of people saying "It's no war of ours." "How can we look with indifference on destruction?" he asked. Then he went on to point out that we were already affected by the calamity.

"Not to be hysterical, not to be influenced by propaganda, not to give way to wishful thinking, are the three points to be practiced if we are to keep our sanity. The greatest strength of will is needed. To study with the world on fire will take effort," he warned.

"I never knew a day when self discipline is so needed," he remarked and added, "The outlet we need is work. If the allies lose, can we do anything better than discipline ourselves to face it?" he demanded.

He expressed the hope that "every student and faculty member may work as they have never worked before." "No knowledge is useless," he reminded he assembly.

In conclusion he reiterated this idea with "war or peace there is going to be an increase in the demand for men who can work, who can think."

Phyllis Hubbard Elected Senior Class President

Senior women's elections took place yesterday and today in Forest recreation hall and Mead chapel.

Phyllis K. Hubbard was elected president this morning after a close vote last night had failed to elect anyone.

Last night Elizabeth A. Bucher was elected secretary, and Geraldine M. Dansereau received the position of treasurer.

The office of vice-president has not yet been filled due to the closeness of the voting. Deborah Bardwell, Louise H. Gove, Patricia May, Irene H. Pak, and Jean M. Sweeny were the original nominees for this position.

Gifford Hall Construction Scheduled to Begin Next Month

NEW DORMITORY TO HOLD 110 STUDENTS

Gift of a new recitation hall by Charles A. Munroe, Middlebury trustee, was announced by President Moody in chapel on the opening day of college. He also told the college that the bids for James M. Gifford Memorial Hall for Boys have been received but as yet the contract for the new dormitory has not been released.

The new recitation building will be known as Munroe Hall and will be located on the same axis as the Chemistry building. With Gifford Hall it will complete a campus quadrangle. Detailed plans for construction have not yet been announced.

Work on this new dormitory to house 110 men will start next month, according to the plans in the terms of the contract. In appearance, it will be very similiar to Hepburn, having a dining room in the rear. One great difference, however, will be in the facing. It is planned that it will be faced with limestone, similiar to the stone used in the construction of Painter and Starr halls, and Old Chapel. This stone is quarried in Weybridge, in a quarry recently purchased by the college.

The building will be located on the north side of Mead chapel. Announcement of the plans for building the new dormitory were announced by President Paul D. Moody at the barbecue during Commencement in June. At this time he read a letter from Mrs. James M. Gifford in which she declared her intention to build a hall in honor of her husband, James M. Gifford.

When completed the two new buildings will form the largest net addition to Middlebury's physical assets in many years. Charles A. Munroe, the donor of the recitation building, graduated from Middlebury in 1896 and entered the profession of law. His name has also been connected with many public utility companies.

James Gifford was born in Monkton in 1856. He graduated from Middlebury in 1877, and then went to New York where he taught for five years. Following this, he was admitted to the bar in 1883. Until the time of his death in 1938 he practiced law in New York City. In 1900 he was made a trustee of the college.

CAMPUS Plans Student War Poll

Six Questions on War Will Determine Pupils' Views In Chapel Test Friday

Middlebury students will have a chance to express their views on the European war in a special poll, sponsored by the CAMPUS. Ballots will be distributed in chapel Friday morning.

Six questions are to be included in the poll, which is designed primarily to show the attitude which students in the college would like to see the United States take toward the war. In filling out the ballot students will merely have to check the statements in the affirmative or negative.

The statements are as follows:

(1) America should fight with the Allies against Germany immediately; (2) America should fight with the Allies against Germany if they seem to lose; (3) America should give as little aid as possible to either side; (4) America should give as much aid as possible, short of military, to the Allies; (5) America should repeal present Neutrality Act and adopt "cash and carry" system of trade; (6) President Moody is wrong in saying that England and France are fighting "our battle."

IDEALS OR POWER?

In word and spirit President Moody's chapel address on the opening day of college was a shocking disappointment to many students. It is impossible to determine exactly how m ny agreed and how many disagreed with his message, but there certainly has been a storm of adverse comment on campus.

There can be no doubt in anyone's mind that President Moody believes this second World War is being fought almost solely on ideological grounds. That is, he believes the main issue is democracy vs. fascism. It is hard to get college students to swallow that. Why should they?

The generation which is in college today is that same post-war generation which was brought up on the disillusionment and disappointment of the Versailles Treaty and the League of Nations. The symbol of that disillusionment and disappointment was the mockery of the phrase, "We saved the world for democracy," the empty ideal for which the United States entered the first World War. There has been no parallel for the wave of sentiment against all foreign wars which swept over this country during those post-war years.

In spite of all this President Moody again jumps to identify the United States with the cause of England and France. He does not ask for an immediate declaration of war. Apparently he thinks this country should stay on the bench for awhile, ready to go in if the Allied team seems to be in danger of losing. His words left no doubt as to his meaning. Two of the phrases were: "the Allies, who are fighting our battle," and "those who fight on our behalf." If Americans actually believed those words to be true, it would be sheer cowardice which keeps this country out of the War right now.

A large number of college students reject this conclusion that Great Britain and France are fighting primarily for ideological principles. They believe that the issue is fundamentally one of power and supremacy in Europe. The Clemenceau who could privately refer to the Treaty of Versailles as a means of reducing France's enemies to subjection in anticipation of the next war has been echoed by the Chamberlain who has said that England will not lay down arms until the spectre of German militarism is laid forever.

President Moody by no means confined himself to America's position with regard to the War. He gave some fine advice for students to work hard and attain the self-discipline necessary to maintain sanity in a topsy-turvy world. It is unfortunate that this portion of his speech will be largely overlooked because of its conjunction with shallower ideas. It is likewise unfortunate that his pleas for sanity and condemnation of hysteria were made in a speech over-packed with emotion and sentimentality.

The maintenence of liberty in America depends upon this country's staying out of a war being fought for power. America can best serve the cause of democracy by maintaining it internally and not engaging in a Quixotic quest abroad.

Leggett '40 Heads Middlebury Night

Campus Leaders Address Freshmen at Traditional Smoker Held Thursday

Thursday night, in McCullough gymnasium, a huge crowd of Middlebury men and faculty gathered for the annual Middlebury Night, traditional to the college as a smoker designed to welcome the incoming men and to acquaint them with the customs of the college.

Cider, doughnuts, apples and cigarettes were distributed before the program started. Following the singing of "Victory", played by the Middlebury band, under the direction of Mr. Alan Carter, Glenn H. Leggett '40, chairman of the "Midd Night", introduced the first speaker, Paul S. Eriksson '40, who spoke for the college publications. In this speech, Eriksson emphasized to the new class the importance of persistence if trying out for the boards of the publications.

Coach Benjamin H. Beck, in a short talk for the varsity football squad, pointed out the necessity of working, both in the class room and on the field, if an athlete is to become an asset to the team.

The entire group then sang "The Old Midd Spirit", followed by a speech on scholarship by Albert Profy '40, president of the senior class. George F. Lewin '40, president of the Undergraduate Association, briefly explained the new system of the organization, telling that active interest by the entire college is necessary if the plan is to be a success. This was followed by the singing of "The Football Song".

Coach Arthur M. Brown and John P. Stabile '40, captain of football, were the next two speakers, giving the incoming group pointers on athletics here, Coach Brown stressing that each man should report for some team.

President Paul D. Moody introduced the speaker of the evening, Charles S. (Casey) Jones '15. Mr. Jones, noted aviator who won much popularity during the war for his daring flying, described the course in aviation that will be presented here during the coming year. In telling about the course, Mr. Jones introduced Mr. Rock, head of the flying field at Bristol, where practical flying courses will be given in connection with the government plan.

The program closed with the men rising and singing "Gamaliel Painter's Cane".

Pres. Moody Addresses Sunday Chapel On Strength And Frailty

Dr. Paul D. Moody was speaker last Sunday, as Middlebury began its winter Sunday chapel services. Dr. Moody first quoted from the Psalms, "Lord, make me to know my end, make me to know the measures of my day that I may know how frail I am."

Dr. Moody went on to say that the psalmist did not mean he wanted to know the day upon which he was to die, or how long he was going to live. No man, said the President, wants to know this. The psalmist wanted only to be reminded of the "brevity" of his life, so that he might not waste a moment of it. "A man has perhaps 25,000 days to live. If he were given 25,000 dollars to last for his lifetime with nothing to be added, he would jealously hoard those dollars and receive the most benefit from each dollar. Is not a day of a man's life", asked the President, "more precious than a dollar?"

By asking how frail he was, the the psalmist asked how strong he was, strong not in the sense of physical or intellectual strength, but in the sense of strength of courage, purpose, spirit, or commonly, "guts." Perhaps the psalmist really wanted to be taught to "know himself."

"Physical strength can be bettered by exercise and practice," and the President cited the story of Milo, who carried a calf every day of its life, until he was able to carry the full-grown bull. "Intellectual strength can also be improved by study, but spirit in a man is either there or not, and he can not attain it if he never had it."

Physical and intellectual strength can be measured, but "we can not measure ourselves. "We can not tell how large a burden a man can carry." Strength of spirit is not related to physical or intellectual power, because some of the world's greatest persons were invalids, or physical weaklings. But in these people, there was a "temperament that refused to be beaten", something that carried them through.

The President continued by saying that what upsets us, what gets the best of us, what irks and irritates us, can to some small degree be used to measure ourselves, but here again we are so often greatly mistaken. We sometimes overestimate ourselves and sometimes we underestimate how much we can endure. In some critical moments we find we can do more than we ever dreamed we could, and then again we sometimes fail where we thought we could succeed.

"In Jesus," concluded Dr. Moody, "patience, endurance, courage, spirit, virtue are at the peak of perfection, and compared to his deeds and thoughts, our greatest efforts seem small indeed."

HELEN R. LAWRENCE '41 WINNER OF HATHAWAY SCHOLARSHIP IN PIANO

Helen R. Lawrence '41 was awarded the Grace Hathaway Scholarship for this year.

This scholarship is given by the A Tempo club, and is decided on the basis of general college work, work in the field of music, and talent. The applicants are voted on by the Dean of Women and the faculty of the music department.

Miss Lawrence plans to use the scholarship in continuing the study of the piano under Professor Lewis J. Hathaway.

Geraldine M. Dansereau '40 was the recipient of this prize last year. She used it to further her study of the violin.

HANDBOOK SPLIT IN TWO DIVISIONS UNDER NEW PLAN

Radical changes were made this year in the publication of the Middlebury Handbook under the editorship of Talbot F. Hamlin '40. Published in two parts to make it a more useful guide to the freshmen, it was sent out on August 31. The first section contained such material as a short introduction by President Moody, facts about the college, its traditions, the library, songs and cheers. Information on fraternity rushing, extra curricular activities, and the complete set of regulations for the Men's and Women's colleges was also published in this. Instead of printing the numerous constitutions of Middlebury's college organizations as in last year's Handbook, the CAMPUS will publish them this year, in order that they may be presented to the entire student body.

We're using more than 250 college papers to tell students of the 5 devastating and devitalizing feats recently performed by the Parker Vacumatic to prove it will last for life. No other pen we know has ever faced such torture. Yet the Parker Vacumatic did it—can do it any time—and come forth in perfect working order.

1st—Filled with Acid (strong ferric chloride solution which ate away a railroad spike) instead of with ink, this incredible pen wrote a 5-mile line with the acid on a revolving paper-covered drum and finished in perfect working order.

2nd—"Bomb" Test: Parker's Diaphragm filler encased in an oxygen bomb FOR WEEKS, where a single day equals 6 months' normal age—to prove its long life.

3rd—"Electrocution": Every Parker Diaphragm proved 100% leak-proof by exposing it to 5,000 volts of electricity which flashes a red light if there's even a pinhole leak.

4th—"Drip Test": Pens filled and hung points down for hours in frigid temperature, then in torrid temperature.

5th—Dropped 3,000 ft. from an airplane to prove the lovely laminated pearl barrel and cap are Non-Breakable.

You never saw such a pen. You never owned one. A sacless pen that holds far more ink than ordinary rubber sac pens—shows the ink level at all times, hence won't run dry without warning, in classes or exams. So go and see it now and get it for college and for life.

GUESSWORK ONLY

If anybody should happen to have an old second hand rabbits foot for sale or even a heathen Goddess of Luck hanging around, the Sports Department of this paper would appreciate them offering said article for the proper pecuniary remuneration.

All of which means that after hearing Beck and Akerstrom mumble in their beards about a couple of swell backfields to tote the ball around, but no line to speak of, we figure that the best thing to do is cross our fingers and wait until after the Williams game is over before we advance any ideas of our own about the outcome of the 1939 season.

For in the final analysis it looks as though the success of the Panthers this year depends largely on how many men can stay off the injured list. Biggest gloom spot in Coach Akerstrom's problem this year is where to find enough capable reserves to back up the men he already has in the line. And it is the line that will be the salient point of the Middlebury team this year. Of the seven places open, four are pretty definitely filled. Captain Stabile will play the center and will be flanked by Vartuli and Jaques of the educated toe reputation. Al Profy is in at left tackle and completes the quartet of veteran players that form the nucleus of the Panther line.

But what manner of superman can Akerstrom find to use in right tackle and the two end spots? At present writing it looks as though the nod will go to Tiny Myers the heaviest man on the squad, to fill the tackle berth. Tiny is much improved over last year—he has found a great deal more speed than he had last season and has learned to handle his 240 pounds of brawn with more ease and control. Kedmenec and Ross sophomore stars from last year also loom as prospects for this position. Both men however suffer from the Panthers greatest jinx—injuries—and right now we bet two to one that Myers will be in there when Midd travels to Williams. The ends will be harder to fill than the tackle berth. A magnificent sufficiency of inexperienced men are available for use and all Coach Akerstrom has to do is choose two men out of a list comprising Clapper, Sanford, Crawford, and Lefty Tupka, and Cosgrove. Of the men named Clapper and Tupka seem to stand out, but it's still anybody's guess as to who will be on the flanks this Saturday.

The backfield is the least of Middlebury's worries. The probable first string combination will have the elusive Mahoney, Jack Johnson, Sammy Bertuzzi and Tony Wishinski. Of the quartet all but Wishinski are veteran men. Coach Beck has plenty of good reserves to call on if anything hapens to the starting backs. Lee Johnson, Ed Garland, Van Gaasbeck, J. Fitzgerald are all experienced men that are on tap.

But all in all the opinions will be reserved until after the Purple clouds down Williamstown way are dispersed from the 1939 horizon. Williams is out of the Panther class, and if the Massachusetts team doesn't riddle Coach Beck's team with injuries the Panthers can go ahead and do a little wreaking of vengeance in the Potato league.

OF ADDED NOTE

With one paragraph left to fill we might well announce something of a new policy for the Sports page. The main idea is more pictures and more personalities of the college teams. The money is short but we will try to do the best we can for the photography angle. As far as the personalities are concerned the object is to feature a few appropriate guest articles from the coaches—and maybe even the faculty.

No promises—all we can do is try. Any letters of comment on Midd Sports are also welcome. If we have space we will print them. So thank you for the cooperation.

Middlebury Will Meet Williams At Williamstown In Initial Gridiron Encounter Of '39 Schedule

Purple Eleven Hopes to Repeat 13-0 Win of Last Season

The few reports that have trickled in from the Williams football camp seem to indicate that Coach Charlie Caldwell is having the same difficulty with the line as is Coach Beck.

Biggest threat on the Purple forward wall is former freshman captain Jack Daly who will undoubtedly hold down one of the tackle positions. Al Hearne is another strong spot on the Williams line, and will probably take one of the ends in the opening game against Midd this Saturday.

In the backfield Coach Caldwell will use veterans Bud Delmar and Shaun Meehan as the nucleus and will pick two other backs to make the quartet from Fisher, Holden, Morgan, and McCann all sophomores.

Reserves A Question

As mentioned before Williams is lacking a good reliable line to support its otherwise well balanced backfield. Even if Coach Caldwell does put a good first string line on the field he like Coach Akerstrom has to find capable substitutes to throw in. One recompensing factor is that while Williams may not have any particularly good reserves, the Purple squad boasts quite a few more men than Middlebury—which mean that they can wear the Panther down early in the game.

No indication as to the style of play that Williams will attempt this year has been noted. Probably the Purple will play conservative football—leaving the razzle-dazzle type of football to Andy Kerr and his Colgate raiders. A powerful running attack bolstered by aerial tactics that will be used sparingly is hte logical guess for a team such as the Purple usually produces. All remains to be seen however, when the Panthers journey down to Williamstown this Saturday for the initial contest of the season.

Panthers Weak in Line, But Boast Power In Backfield

Middlebury's 1939 football season will open this Saturday when Coach Ben Beck sends the Panthers down to Williamstown to meet Williams usually highly touted Purple eleven.

With the results of recent game scrimmages as a basis of selection, Coach Beck is gradually choosing a starting line-up. Biggest problem facing the Middlebury coaching staff is the forward wall. Three positions in the line are definitely on the question list. With Captain Stabile at center, Vartuli and Jaques at the guards and Al Profy holding down the left tackle spot, Line-Coach Akerstrom can boast a veteran line that has proved strong in the past. Only the right tackle and the end positions are left to be filled. Tiny Myers seems to be the logical choice for the tackle berth, as he looks better this year than ever before, but Ross and Kedemenec bear watching for this spot. Bitterest fight seems to be for the ends. Tupka, converted from the backfield, sophomores Clapper, Cosgrove, Sanford and Jack Crawford of the junior class all have ambitions to hold down at least one of the flanks. Even if Coach Akerstrom succeeds in putting one good line on the field he has the problem of enough capable reserves to solve.

Backs Are Plentiful

Most cheerful outlook is in the backfield, with Coach Beck having an excellent group of backs to choose from. Probable starting backfield combination will be the one now working on the A team in scrimmage. Composed of veterans Mahoney, J. Johnson, Bertuzzi, and sophomore Wishinski, the Panther backfield should prove one of the best in Midd football history. Wishinski will be expected to shine at backing the line along with Captain Stablie, while Johnson is an effective blocker. Mahoney and Bertuzzi are experienced broken field runners and safety men. Plus the capable first string backfield Coach Beck has reserves in L. Johnson, E. Garland, J. Fitzgerald, and Van Gaasbeck to choose from.

What happen at Williams will be the result of many factors chief among them the extent of the Purple reserve strength. If Williams can wear the Panther down they should win, but if the breaks are even, Middlebury will court Lady Luck and look for a victory.

Frosh Face Union In Opener Oct. 21

Yearlings Practice For Coming Games With K.U.A., U.V.M.

By Alan B. Howes '41

With the first in a schedule of three home games only four weeks away, the Panther frosh got underway with their first football practice last Friday.

Among the high and prep school stars who ought to shape up for regular berths on the team is Bernard, six-foot six, 240 pound center. Whitland, who tips the scales at 190, looks good for the position of fullback. Also out for the position of back is Ed Shea, Hartford, Connecticut high school star. Ed, who weighs 175, passes and kicks.

In the line, Poole, 210 pound tackle from K. U. A. looks good. Also from K. U. A. is Bob Adsit who is after the position of end and weighs 170. Bob attended Burlington high school before going to K. U. A.

Uniforms were given out to thirty men on Thursday and practice was held Friday and Saturday. The first practices were devoted mainly to calisthenics and conditioning exercises while the line was drilled on fundamentals of charging. The backfield and the ends also worked on passes. A few plays were given out and signal drill was held.

Coach Nash says that the group seems to be a husky bunch of fellows on the whole although it is too early to tell exactly how they will shape up in the future.

Three Games Scheduled

The schedule, all home games, includes: Union College on October 21, K. U. A on October 27, and U. V. M. on November 11.

GEORGE BERRY REPORTS FOR PRACTICE

As this page went to press last night word was received that Bud Berry, star end of last year's Panther eleven reported to Coach Ben Beck for practice.

VARSITY HARRIERS REPORT FOR FIRST DAILY WORKOUTS

Captained by Everett Mercure, the varsity cross country team reported for its first practice session last Friday.

About seventeen men turned out and hard daily practice sessions will continue until the first meet, which is with Union college on October 21 at Middlebury.

Bob Cushman was lost by graduation last year and also out of the starting ranks will be Paul Cushman who is at M. I. T. this year and Bailey Goodell, last year's most promising freshman, who is not returning to college.

The schedule:

Oct. 21	Union	here
Oct. 28	Williams	here
Nov. 4	McGill University	here
Nov. 18	Univ. of Vt.	away

Tryouts for the Frosh cross-country will be called out this week as soon as the varsity candidates have had a few days' practice. The Freshmen are being given time to settle down and find their legs before starting the three meet schedule planned, with a possible fourth in an encounter with the varsity. No hint as to promising material with noteworthy high-school records has as yet been discovered.

The schedule:

Oct. 27	Vt. State Aggies	away
Nov. 4	McGill University	here
Nov. 18	Univ. of Vt.	away

The Interfraternity council, with a view to fostering more normal relationships between first-year men and fraternity men, does hereby declare that there shall be free and unrestrained relations between first-year and fraternity men during the first semester of the college year until the period of rest, to be designated in the following rules. This normal relationship shall apply to all aspects of college life except for the following restrictions.

1. No fraternity shall admit to or entertain in its house any first year man between September 1 and the opening of the formal rushing season except as provided by the Interfraternity council.

2. Up to the formal rushing season no first year man shall agree to join a fraternity by giving his word, handshake, signature, or any other procedure. A fraternity may not offer any informal bid up to the formal rushing season.

3. There shall be a period of free and unrestrained relationships, with the above exceptions noted, between fraternity and first year men from the opening of school until the period of rest.

Part II

2. The active rushing period shall be known as that period extending from the opening of the college to the period of rest. The formal rushing season shall begin on the first Thursday of the second semester and shall extend through the following Friday. Saturday shall be pledge day.

4. Fraternity visitations, whereby freshmen may be entertained in fraternity houses, shall be established and apportioned by the Interfraternity council with unanimous vote at a meeting held early in the fall semester. The apportionments shall be carried out in the manner regulated by customary practice.

14 Each fraternity shall be bonded $300. This bond shall be posted with President of the Interfraternity council within seven days of the first meeting of the Council following the opening of school.

Scavenger Hunt Feature Of Mountain Club Picnic

More than 200 freshmen met together Tuesday, Sept. 19 on the Woman's Athletic field for the annual Get-Together picnic sponsored by the Mountain Club and W. A. A. Upperclassmen representing the two organizations acted as leaders in the scavenger hunt and sing held during the outing.

Divided into sixteen teams, the freshmen looked for such articles as a live frog, Darrell Butterfield's signature, and Pres. Paul D. Moody's car license number. The victorious group was awarded Middlebury banners.

After a picnic supper served cafeteria style, the class of 1943 gathered around a huge bonfire and were introduced to some traditional college songs and football yells.

This picnic and get-together has been a feature of Freshman Week for several years, whenever weather has permitted. The affair was called off last year on account of rain. W. A. A. and Mountain club sponsor it annually.

Student Union Tea Held For Freshmen Women In Pearsons' Living Room Thursday Afternoon

Student Union sponsored its annual Freshman Tea Thursday, September 21. The purpose of this tea was to give the freshman some idea of the extra-curricular activities open to them and to help them choose their clubs and activities wisely.

Marjorie N. Burditt, president of Student Union, introduced the members of Mortar Board who spoke to the freshmen, and also told of the duties and activities of the Social committee and the Mountain club. Dorothy Jane Acker explained the functions of Mortar Board, the Kaleidescope, college yearbook, and briefly outlined the program of the Women's Forum. Louise E. Dorchester spoke on W. A. A., the choir and A Tempo club to the women, while Pan Hellenic was explained by Betty Forman.

All the language clubs and the orchestra were presented by M. Elizabeth Robertson. The English club and the three publications, the CAMPUS, Saxonian and Handbook were explained and outlined by Jean L. Rose.

After tea had been served to the Freshman women they received activity sheets which listed all the activities open to freshmen. These activities are divided into two groups according to the amount of time that each activity takes. In group A are listed the CAMPUS Editorial and Business Staff, Orchestra, Choir and W. A. A. Since these activities take the greatest amount of time for participation, new students were warned to elect only three of these. In group B were listed the clubs, debating, dramatics and Forum.

The new women, both Freshmen and transfers were asked to check the activities that they were interested in and hand in the sheet for Mortar Board approval at the open Forum held yesterday in Forest recreation hall.
